Frog's Bright Idea

TEACHTOWN
Exceptional Solutions for Exceptional Students

Frog's Bright Idea

Adapted from the original work of Ranjeet Kaur

Illustrated by Partho Sengupta

www.teachtown.com

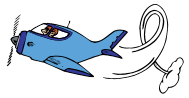
This story is an adaptation of (with the original illustrations from): Frog's Bright Idea (English), written by Ranjeet Kaur, illustrated by Partho Sengupta, translated by Magdalena Cooper, published by Room to Read (©Room to Read, 2015) released under a CC BY 4.0 license on StoryWeaver.
www.storyweaver.org.in

Frog had a problem.

He was hungry!

"I wish I had food today," he said.

He went to find food.



He saw a lot of bugs flying around.

“I wish I could eat those bugs!” he said.

"I need to catch those bugs," said Frog.

Frog jumped here and there.

X

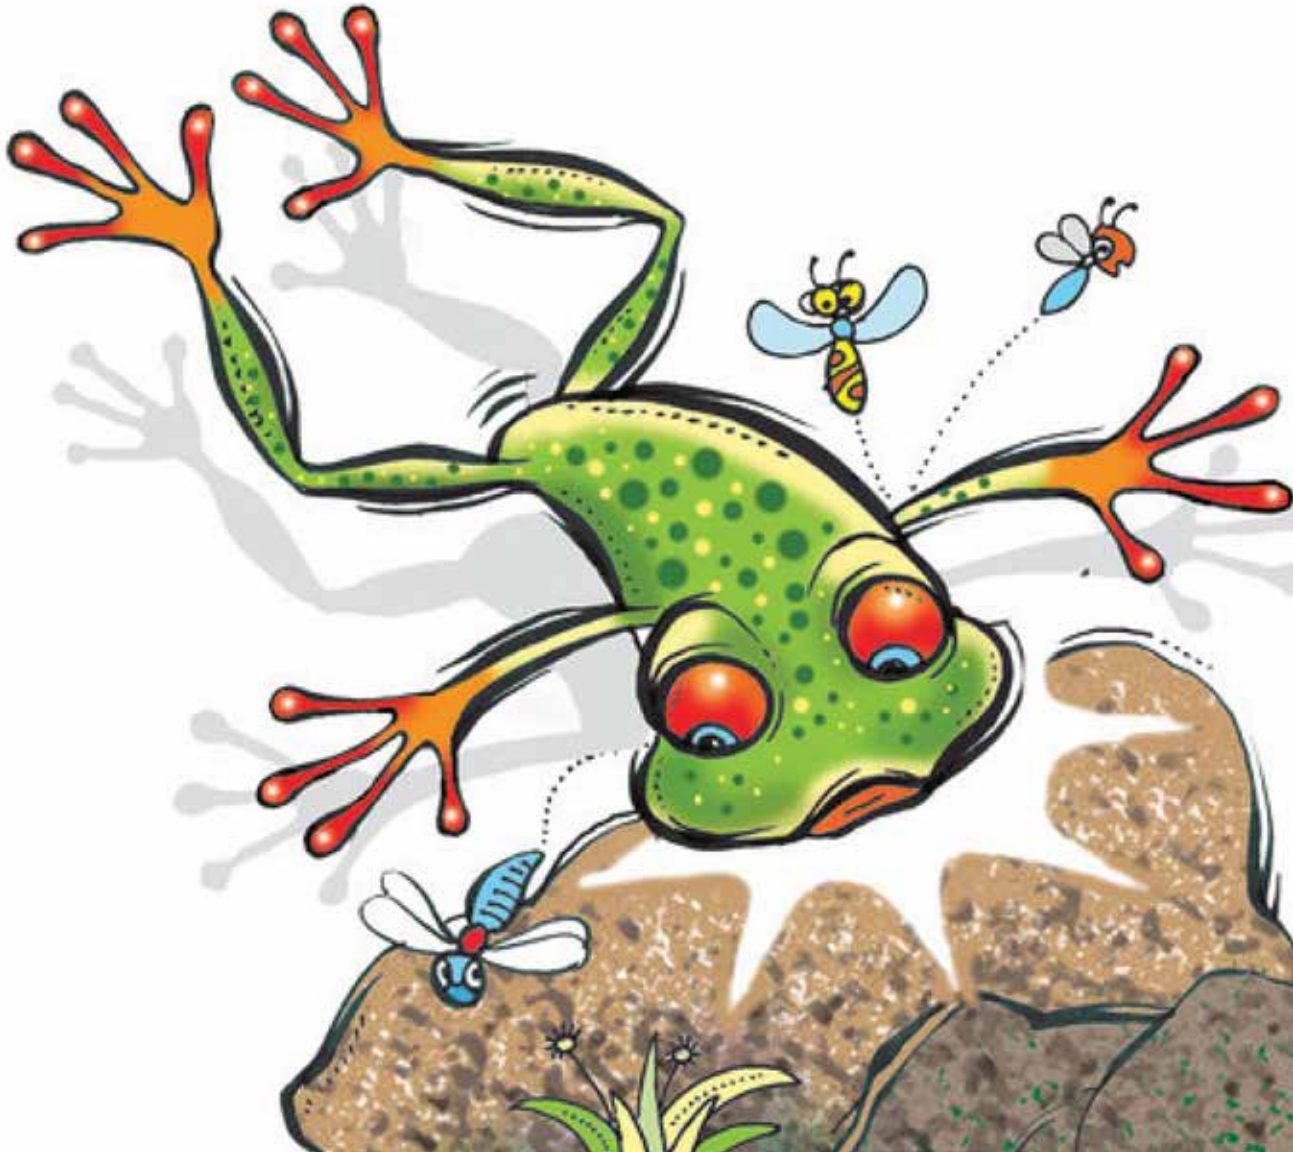
He did not catch any bugs.

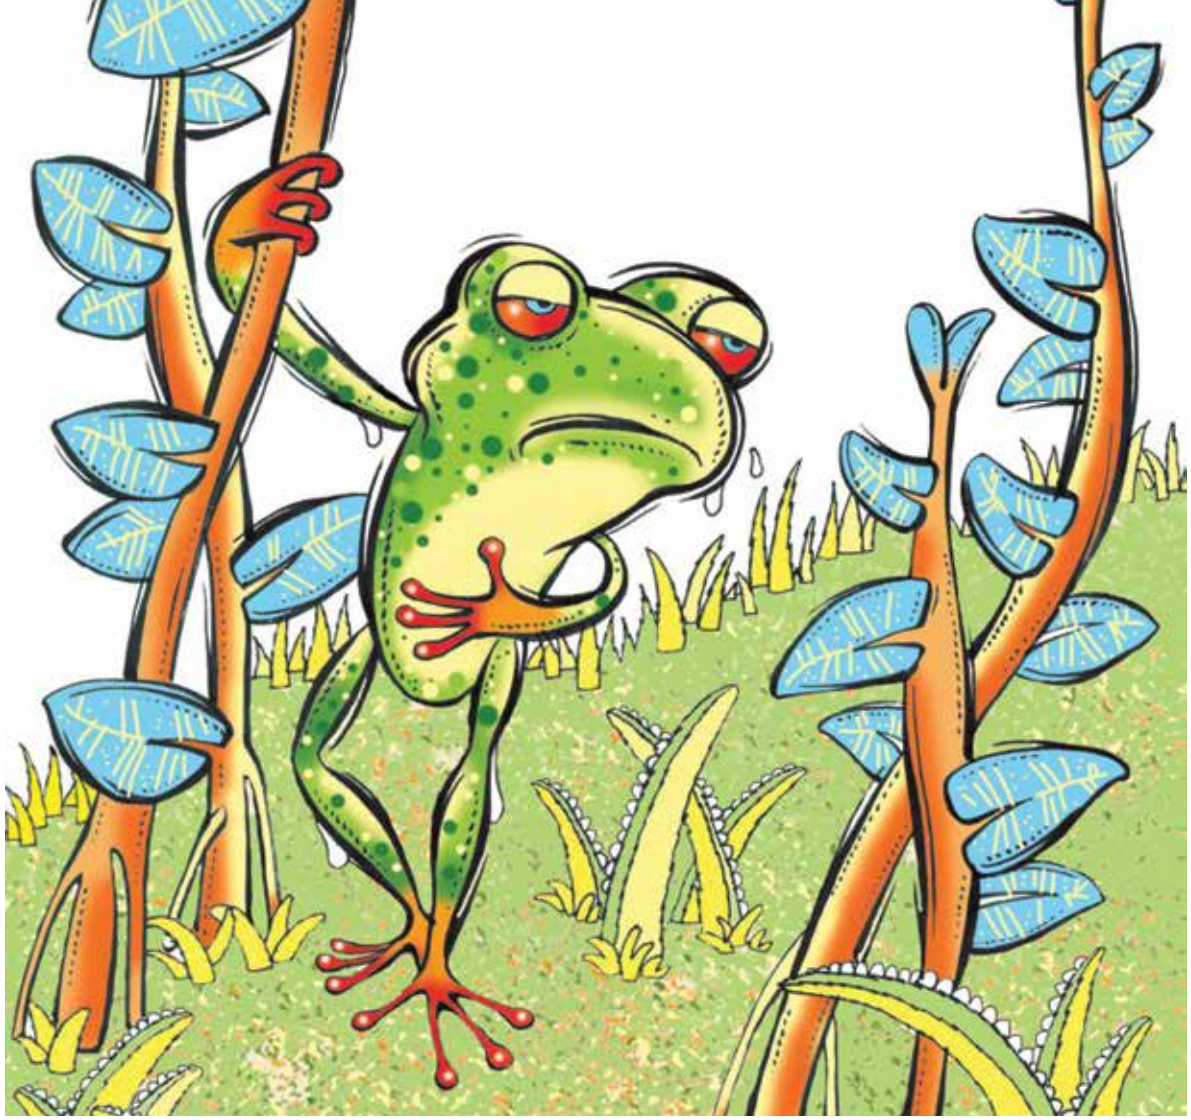
The bugs were too far away.

Frog jumped again.

X

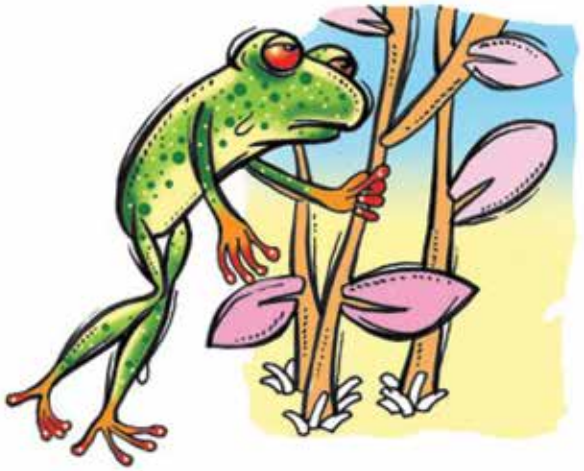
He could not catch any today!





After all that jumping, he was even more hungry.

His stomach hurt.



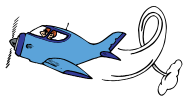
"The bugs are fast!" he said.

"How will I catch them?"

Then he saw a light shining far away.

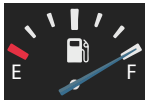
“What is that light?” he asked.

The light was from a candle.



Bugs were flying all around the light!

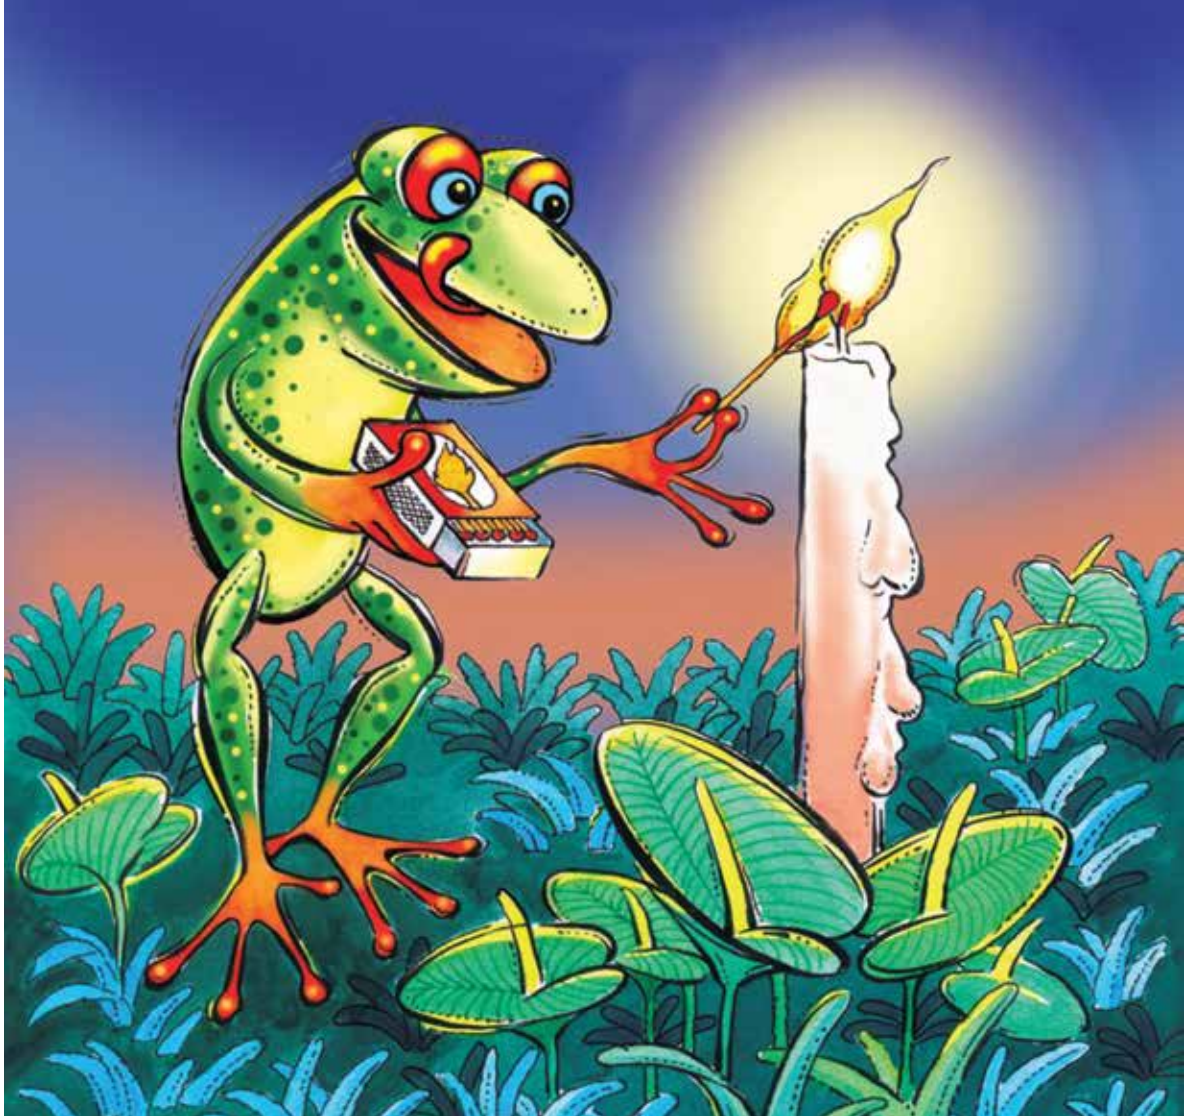
“Time to eat!” said Frog.



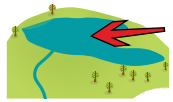
Frog ate until he was full.

The next day, Frog got a candle. “This is how

I will catch my dinner today!” said Frog.



He lit the candle.



He put it right at the edge of the pond.

"My plan worked!" said Frog.

"I wish my friends were here."

All of Frog's friends brought candles to the pond.

They lit their candles and waited.

Bugs came from near and far!

All the frogs ate in the light of the candles.

TEACHTOWN
Exceptional Solutions for Exceptional Students

Copyright © 2020 Teachtown